

Scream Teas at Almond Valley

As twilight falls and Halloween approaches, strange creatures take over the tearoom to prepare monster meals for hungry families. Zombies, night-cats and other unnatural beasts will emerge from the kitchen and stagger to your table bearing cauldrons and urns of odd but strangely tasty food. Lifting the lids, you then share the gruesome contents among your family. Our special three course meal consists of:

- hot blood and worms
- warm cheesy grubs and bugs, with spiders and skulls
- ice cream eyeballs

all washed down with chilled witches brew, complete with dead hand and sundry surprises.

Once everything's digested, there's dooking for apples and other traditional Halloween games, while in the soft play there's scary sounds and glow-in-the-dark fun. Good children get a goody bag to take home.

These scream teas are rare occasions, taking place only on the evenings of the 30th and 31st of October, (and perhaps some earlier weekday evenings). Arrive as early as you wish to explore other scariness around the Almond Valley site but be seated by 17.00 for your horrible but hearty meal. You should be on your way home by 19.00. Capacity is limited and tickets must be purchased in advance, costing £12 per person. To book, phone us on 01506 414957 with payment (non-refundable) in full by credit or debit card

A Note for Sensitive Parents

This gentle fun is intended for children aged under eight, accompanied by their families. Adults and children share a wholesome meal of tomato soup, pasta bake, ice cream with fruit squash, all with a few novelty trimmings. No lurid food colourings will be used. Dress up or come as you are – the choice is yours. The other attractions of the Almond Valley site close at 17.00
